Winchester to Get Water From River

The Winchester Water Works Company has announced that it would lay a ten-inch main from its plant to the Kentucky river, and work has already begun. This plan means that Winchester will never face another water famine. C. C. Robbins, editor of the Winchester Sun, is particularly happy over the announcement, as he has been contending for such a main ever since he has had charge of the Winchester Sun.

CIRCULATION STATEMENT

Below will be found the latest sworn circulation statement of the Mt. Sterling Advocate. To say that we are proud of our list is putting it mildly, as we believe beyond a doubt that The Advocate has the largest circulation of any weekly or semi-weekly paper being published in Kentucky at this time. It reaches practically ALL the people in this section and as an advertising medium it is unexcelled:

State of Kentucky, County of Montgomery, Set:

I, J. W. Hedden, Jr., having first been duly sworn hereby certify that I am Secretary and Treasurer of the Advocate Publishing Company, publishers of the Mt. Sterling Advocate, and as such have charge of the circulation records of said paper. The press run records show that there is now being printed 2,800 copies semi-weekly with a mailing and carrier circulation of 2,705.

(Signed) J. W. HEDDEN, JR.
Subscribed and sworn to before me by J. W. Hedden, Jr., this 4th day of August, 1921.

(Signed) J. H. CONNER.
Notary Public, Montgomery County, Ky.

My commission expires February 19, 1922.

The circulation lists of The Advocate are open for inspection to all bona fide advertisers at all times as we believe they are entitled to know the people they are reaching. Its readers number MORE than its two contemporaries combined, making this paper the logical medium through which to reach practically ALL the people in Mt. Sterling's trading territory.

Beware of Last Minute Campaign Lies

As is customary just prior to election in this county, there are being circulated a number of campaign lies, which are absolutely without foundation. This is done in the hope that they will have effect after it is too late to be corrected. We believe that a large majority of our voters have made up their minds as to how they will cast their ballots and we urge them to vote according to their sober judgment and not believe any of the last minute lies being circulated.

Politics Waxing Warm in Montgomery

For the past few days the primary election of Saturday has been the chief topic of the day and much interest is being manifest in the various races. In several of the contests interest is intense and the final result seems very much in doubt. However, as a general thing, good feeling prevails, and it is confidently believed that the primary will be a friendly affair.

Rains Help Crops In This Section

The rains of the past few days have proven a God-send to this section and will do much to stimulate business. Farmers had become very much discouraged at the crop outlook and the rains, followed by the cooler weather, were certainly welcome.
